INFIDELITY .- BY LARRY LEE.

I saw un aged father bent with years,

With intellect so noble, brow so bold,

Of utter darkness! Yet his gentle eye

Betokens not the bindings of the mind,

Nor told the warrings of the inner man ;

But rather with its lustrous softness held

The bosom of the gentle Infidel.

I saw him once again, but only once,-

And like a Scraph sat upon his throne

The silver moon rode high among the clouds,

Of snowy whiteness, and its nervous beams,

To where I stood beside the bed of death;

Which wafted by, and unresisted, fanned

The brow of him who waited for his doom.

In early spring within this Southern land;

I saw him then, the mild eyed hoary seer— Striving in vain to nurse his pent up grief;

And as the cold, white moon fell on his chock,

He pressed my hand, and this is all he spake,

Sent forth exotics on the uncased air-

Anon would wander through the budding trees,

I saw him then; 'twas night, the virgin Spring

'Iwas night, soft night, such as we only know within

The outer world in converse, how to know-

With locks all silvered by the frost of time,

And bade his spirit keep within the realms

THE OIL FEVER .- The oil fever is raging in this region to an alarming extent. Men are leaving their wives and children, and in fact, everything else that is near and dear to them, for the oil regions, in Wirt county .-All that can raise the "tin" are determined to try it a "whet." Hence, we cry, hurrah for the oil regions and the Weston Lunatic Asylum! If the fever continues as it has commenced it is certainly a Providential thing, for the people of Wirt, that they have an Asylum so near them. During the past few days there has been nothing talked of but the aforesaid oil region. We learn that there are at present, at the "Oil Wells," near four thousand persons, and that they are daily arriving by the score .-Several companies are formed and being formed in this county, who are going into it energetically.

If all who try the oil project, succeeds, Whale will soon be of no account -- ships need no longer double Cape Horn in a three years cruise in the Arctic regions in the drowning and break-neck business of capturing "those monsters of the bubbling deep." It is supposed that there are numerous wells in operation that produce a Whale a day. They are Princess streets, and ascertain the probable cost | being discovered all over this country, Cana-Railroad Company on the subject of said repairs, are evidently fast approaching the surface and melting to grease all that is of a greasy nature. It is said that oil is found where twenty years ago there was no oil indications. But before this comes to pass we hope the adventurers from this county, may meet with ample success. Go it boys, "luck's a fortune."-
